Local sign language ministry goes to Ca.

Yvette Hawkins says she feels that many adults have dropped the ball when it comes to our youth. So she has taken it upon herself to pick it back up again by combining the two things that she figures young people can relate to most — movement and music.

Hawkins is an interpreter for the hearing impaired in the Pass Christian School District and is using sign language and music as a way to uplift youth.

Taking it one step further and adding ministry to the equation, Hawkins has formed the Worshipping Hands.

The group — which now consists of six teen-aged girls from Waveland, Pass Christian, Bay St. Louis and Hattiesburg — spreads the word of the gospel through sign and music, Hawkins said.

On Wednesday they performed at the City of Waveland's Aldermen's meeting and on June 23 the group will travel to San Francisco to perform for schools, churches, and other organizations in the city. Hawkins said she feels that travel is an important part of education because it removes you from the familiar and shows you a whole other side of life.

The girls have much of the financing they need for the trip, but could always use more help.

If you would like to help send the girls on their trip to San Francisco, it's not too late to contribute by calling Hawkins at 467-6555.

Zoning bd. approves BaySide store

BY BENNIE SHALLBETTER
Staff Writer

Despite a flurry of protest, Hancock County Planning and Zoning Commissioners voted three to one to allow BaySide Park resident Jonathan Davis to open a convenience store, laundry, and restaurant in the old neighborhood clubhouse.

Commissioner Lynn Bell voted against the request. She said she was against putting a commercial operation in the middle of a residential area.

Davis will not be opening the businesses in a C-1 Commercial Zone as he requested, however, but as a Special Exception use for the three acre property. Commissioner said they were hesitant to spot zone a commercial area in a residential neighborhood and offered Davis the Special Exception as an alternative.

With a Special Exception permit Davis would be limited to the approved businesses and hours of operation to which he agreed. Any other use for the property would first have to be approved in a new request to the Commission.

Many residents who showed up to protest the request were concerned about Davis' plans to sell gasoline at the site, mainly because of the possible pollution of area water wells. They were also concerned that the added traffic would ruin the residential feel of the area.

Others were concerned about the sale of beer at the store.

Those in favor of the request said that the property was deteriorating and that Davis' business would revive and area that had become an eyesore and be a welcome addition to the community.

Davis said his businesses would be family oriented, with no hard liquor sold on the premises. The restaurant would be family oriented and serve a buffet or plate lunches, he said. Hours of operation would be from 6 a.m. to 10 p.m. weekdays, with the store being open till midnight on Friday and Saturday nights.

"I want this to be for the community," said Davis, who told the Commission he had lived in BaySide Park for 26 years.

"And I hope that some of the people who were against it will change their minds and stop by for a loaf of bread sometime."

The 5,400 square foot clubhouse was built in 1962 to serve as a recreational center for the then new subdivision. At one time the surrounding property contained a pool, golf course, restaurant and bar. At the time of Davis' request, the property had been sitting virtually unused for years.

In other business:

The question of building on 50 foot lots came up once again when Gary Melerine asked the Commission for permission to subdivide his 100 foot lot in Shoreline Park for sale to two different buyers. He said when he purchased the lots they were separate properties. Now zoning laws require a 75 foot frontage to build. Melerine said that a developer was building a host of houses on 50 foot lots just down the street from his property.

Commissioners tabled the matter until they could get an expert opinion from a private consultant. The problem of 50 foot lots is common in many county neighborhoods because people purchased the lots when a 50 foot frontage was acceptable. Many who bought two lots, planning to build on one and sell the other, are finding that new laws are making that impossible.

County building official James "Mickey" Lagasse became one of only 24 other people in the State of Mississippi to earn the title of Certified Flood Plain Manager when he was awarded a certificate this month. The Association of Floodplain Managers, Inc. grants this certification only to professionals who meet the requirements and complete a comprehensive exam on the programs and standards to reduce flood loss. Lagasse took the exam at the National Floodplain Managers Conference in Biloxi last month. The certification is another step toward qualifying the county for the Community Rating System. When the county qualifies for this system, the cost of flood insurance will begin to drop.

Cuevas' Quotes

by Ellis C. Cuevas
Publisher Emeritus

Things really heat up in July

Thus far, June has been a very busy month, but things really pick up during the month of July.

It just seems there are so many activities going on that a person can be doing something everyday of a month in our area.

When schools close in late May and early June, many families begin to take vacations, or visit relatives.

In my younger years, the area's population was not as transient as it is today.

We now have families that move in and stay only a year or two, and that was not the way it was when I was coming up.

True, we had a much larger number of folks owning vacation homes in the county.

The owners would come over during the summers and some on weekends throughout the year. Most of those homeowners were from the New Orleans area.

Now, especially with the advent of the test site some 40-plus years ago and casinos in the last dozen years, we have folks coming here from every state in the nation.

Of course, we have also have to consider the industrial development by the Hancock County Port & Harbor Commission in the last 40 years.

Our county continues to grow and one of the greatest things that growth brings is job opportunities for the younger generation.

Growth coming to a community means a more transient population, and at the same time brings job opportunities.

Do you have a junked car hanging around your property and want to get rid of it?

Well, the Household Hazardous Waste Collection on June 26, will also be taking junked cars, as well as tires, (a limit of 25 tires per person), paint, paint thinner, white goods, air conditioners, and a whole bunch of times. The only exception is television sets and compressed gas cylinders.

The collection will take place in the Waveland Kmart Parking lot from 8 a.m. until noon next Saturday.

This special hazardous waste collection is one the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce's Beautification Committee has been seeking to have over a year.

The Hancock County Board of Supervisors working through Gulf Regional Planning Commission received a grant from EPA for this special collection.

This week would be a good time to check around your home and see if there are hazardous items you need to discard.

Mississippi offers good lives and jobs

Good roads, railways, bridges and airports save lives and create jobs. As one of the conferees charged with reconciling the respective Senate and House versions of a highway bill which will set the nation's transportation policy for the next six years, I'm pushing very hard to shape this legislation into a law fair for Mississippi's taxpayers. With lives and jobs at stake, Congress should pass this bill before we adjourn. Few things, aside from national defense, take higher priority than the federal government's obligation to transportation.

From the Senate

By U.S. Sen. Trent Lott

One of my top priorities in this highway conference is to increase our state's reimbursement from the National Highway Trust Fund, which is fed by your gasoline taxes. Every gas tax dollar paid nationally at the pump goes to Washington. Mississippi is a "donor" state because Mississippi only gets a portion of each gas tax dollar back to build, repair or improve our highways. In 1998 when the last six-year transportation bill was passed - a bill called the "Transportation Equity Act for the 21st Century" or "TEA-21" - I was able to increase Mississippi's gas tax reimbursement from about 84 percent to almost 91 percent. This time, I'm working to increase this return to 95 percent or as close as possible by the new bill's expiration.

The historic reasons for Mississippi being a donor state vary. Basically the rationale went something like this: States with big populations and a lot of roads and vehicles need more money than they contribute in order to meet their high-volume transportation needs. Ironically, states with big land masses and small, scattered, populations argue that their small gas tax collections and vast road distances mean they can't possibly meet their transportation needs without taking more from the trust fund than they give.

So, what we have is a strange alignment of high population states, mostly in the Northeast, and low-population states, mostly in the West, getting back many more gas tax dollars than they contribute.

This is unfair to states like Mississippi. Our state remains poor. It's not right

BETTER SAFE THAN SORRY

We need to vote based on a politician's on record, not race or political party

To the editor:

This week I along with 64,999 other Mississippians were notified that as of June 30, 2004 we will not be covered under Medicaid.

Now let me get this right, the Veterans Hospital is closing, school districts have had their budgets stripped, teachers will have to wait to sign contracts for next year. Gasoline is two dollars a gallon, the Department of Human Services is not funded after July 1, our soldiers are fighting and dying in a war that should have never happened.

Over 800 of our fine young men and women come home in flag draped coffins that we are not allowed to see, but we are force-fed six days of Ronald Reagan's funeral, at a tremendous expense, and who pays?

The taxpayers again. The huge surplus left by the previous administration has been spent and this largest deficit ever, will extend beyond our great grandchildren's lifetime.

Democratic legislators tried to extend this last session to work on Medicaid and after all the begging and pleading, this governor refused and shut it down. Tort reform was more important to him because it affected his high rollers.

He should be ashamed for talking about getting the new medical cards when he knows they are not only expensive they do not help with doctors or hospital stays. Hillary Clinton's attempt to prevent this very thing from happening was met with vicious and vile attacks from the opposition. Their goal since the days of Newt Gingrich has been to gut this program completely.

None of these people are affected by this action. They pay no insurance premiums and when they leave receive a hefty lifetime pension. Their perks alone are worth more than the 65,000 can ever dream of, let alone enjoy.

This state has got to come out of the dark ages and stop voting race and religion. We are last in everything including education that our teachers try so hard to overcome. But it does make us first in one thing, ignorance! We need to start studying a politician's record and not that small D or R behind their name.

Letters to the Editor

This governor, a former lobbyist for power generating companies, pharmaceuticals and tobacco, is following orders from the administration, but why is Mississippi, the poorest state, the first to be the one having to suffer this experimental legislation.

This President has told the top two percent they will get a huge tax break and then told the other 98 percent that we will pay for it, and we are....

But the state will probably vote Republican again since we Mississippians have become so wealthy under their leadership. Race and religion will win again totally ignoring the tragedy that is happening. We need not one word from Barbour, Lott, Cochran or Taylor.

they just sit idly by, so much for compassionate conservative.

Bill Clinton's stupidity hurt only himself and his family, this administration is killing and hurting hundreds of thousands. Just ask yourself, could this have ever happened in a Democratic administration, the answer is absolutely not.

If you disagree I am very happy that you have insurance but people, the wheels are falling off and we remain last in everything, oh I forgot, we are first in one thing! Maybe they thought we wouldn't fight back, maybe that's why they started in our state.

16th Annual Radio for Red Cross Blood Drive is Fishin' for Donors

THE SEA COAST ECHO

Bait your fishing poles and start up the boat, it's time to go "Fishin' for Donors". The American Red Cross and 13 local radio stations are urging Gulf Coast residents and visitors to give blood and get "hooked" on saving lives.

The 16th Annual "Radio for Red Cross" blood drive begins on June 29 with a goal to collect at least 850 pints of lifesaving blood and will run for three days across the three Coastal counties. This year, organizers have moved the annual blood drive, for the first time, from July to the last week of June in an effort to boost critically low blood supplies just before the long 4th of July holiday. The need for blood typically increases over the holiday weekend.

The Red Cross blood drives will begin on Tuesday, June 29 at Edgewater Mall in Biloxi from 10 a.m. until 7 p.m. near the Carousel on the south end of the Mall. Casino Magic in Bay St. Louis will host the drive on Wednesday, June 30 from Noon until 7 p.m. in the Bay Tower Hotel Cypress Cove Ballrooms.

As a thank you for giving blood, donors will receive a free Radio for Red Cross "Fishin' for Donors" t-shirt, a coupon for a free chicken sandwich from Chick-fil-A, a can of Coca-Cola, a free buffet coupon from Sicily's Ultimate Italian Buffet, free gourmet cookies from Cookies by Design, a free burger meal from Sonic and a one-week free trial membership from Premier Fitness.

Keeping with the fishing theme, every donor can enter a drawing for a free, full-day chartered fishing trip for up to 10 people courtesy of Happy Snapper Charters. Every 100th donor will receive a radio station gift pack including a free ticket on the Biloxi Shrimping Trip. One lucky donor will be the 10,000th person to have ever donated blood at a "Radio for Red Cross" blood drive will receive a fabulous gift basket including a one-night stay at Casino Magic in Bay St. Louis and dinner for two at the Jourdan River Grille, free tickets to Ship Island Excursions and other goodies. Childcare will be provided and Domino's pizza will be served each day.

Every one in three people will require a blood transfusion at some time in his or her life. Every two seconds, someone in our country uses blood and each day the Red Cross must collect over 34,000 pints of blood nationwide. When blood supplies fall below a 1-day supply, like they have since mid-June on the Coast and across the country, surgeries have to be put on hold, trauma patients run the risk of not receiving the blood they need and supplies on hand are not enough to handle emergencies. This can be especially dangerous to public health during hurricane season and during heightened terror alerts. Blood must be on the shelf and available for transfusion before the need occurs.

You can do your part to keep our community's blood supply safe by giving blood if you are 17 years old or older, weigh at least 110 pounds, have not donated blood in the past 56 days and are in general good health. The American Red Cross has recently revised their guidelines on donors who have visited the United Kingdom since 1980. If you have traveled to any UK country for a total time of 3 months or more from January 1, 1980 through December 31, 1996 you cannot give blood at the present time due to mad-cow disease restrictions. However, you are now able to donate if you have been in any United Kingdom country from 1997 until the present as long as you did not spend 3 months or more between 1980 and 1996.

For more information about the "Radio for Red Cross" blood drive, about giving blood or volunteering with the American Red Cross, please call the Red Cross at 896-2217.

Lott -- good lives

to ask financially struggling Mississippians to subsidize roads in states like New York, New Jersey, South Dakota or Pennsylvania. The federal funding formula for the Highway Trust Fund must be more fair to Mississippi, a state struggling to create jobs and overcome historic poverty. Highways, bridges and airports provide the essential foundation for economic development and job growth, giving folks in poverty more opportunity and more hope. Mississippi received about $2 billion in federal highway formula funds between 1998 and 2003, and we're poised to get much more if Congressman Chip Pickering and I, as conferees on this legislation, can preserve the increase for donor states provision contained in the Senate version of this latest highway bill.

I'm also working to repeal the 4.3 cents-per-gallon federal tax on diesel fuel paid by railroads and those who operate barges on inland waterways.

Since December of 1990, freight railroads and barge operators have paid this tax as part of a "deficit reduction" plan. Similar taxes paid by airlines and truck operators were redirected in 1997. Since then, railroads and barge operators have been the only industries paying the "deficit reduction" fuel tax, adding to their costs and harming businesses who rely on them to remain healthy and create jobs.

A final priority for this bill is to keep Congressional spending in check. I'm very concerned with Congress' spendthrift ways of late. We cannot let this very important bill get too bloated with items that could dilute the bill's basic purpose, which is to provide the groundwork for all federal transportation policy for the next six years. I know that increasing Mississippi's share of highway funds, curtailing unfair taxes and controlling spending is a tall order, but every transportation bill Congress considers has the capacity to save lives and create new jobs. It's a responsibility Congress and the President must never take lightly. It's a promise that we must always keep.

Senator Lott welcomes any questions or comments about this column. Write to: U.S. Senator Trent Lott, 487 Russell Senate Office Building, Washington, D.C. 20510 (Attn: Press Office)

paign of 'stop, look and listen,' and the Department of Transportation covers for them," Denton said.

Denton said he hopes this verdict will change these things.

Before the case was turned over to the jury, Judge Harry Walker issued a directed verdict which stated that no punitive damages could be issued against CSX.

Any monetary awards, he said, would have to be from negligence.

The jury determined CSX was 50 percent at fault for the collision; the City of Bay St. Louis 20 percent, and Cecile Bilbo 30 percent responsible.

Since the families of the victims had dropped the city of Bay St. Louis as a defendant in their claim, it was not included in the judgment. The damages levied against CSX were based on their percentage of fault as determined by the jury.

During closing arguments, Defense Attorney Patrick Buchanan reiterated testimony from both plaintiffs and defense witnesses which, he said, confirmed the Webb St. crossing was up to both railroad and governmental regulations.

As he did in his opening statements, Buchanan stressed that CSX was not a faceless corporation.

"CSX is the people who live, work and travel among you," Buchanan said.

Plaintiff's Attorney John Grazier took another angle on this statement during his rebuttal.

"My question is, 'Where is CSX?'" he said.

Grazier said CSX is a Jacksonville, FL based company. Grazier said that he invited the president of the company for deposition at the beginning of the trial, and he declined. None of the company's higher executives had been present for any part of the litigation, he said.

"They're trying to dupe you by using (local employees) as fodder," he said.

After the jury returned their verdict, family members present, many of them in tears, embraced.

"We're very elated, very pleased that CSX was found liable in some part," Carmen Finegan, Sean Finegan's mother, said.

"Justice was served," Peggy Haas, Carmen Finegan's daughter, said. "CSX was in the wrong, and it was proven. Maybe this will teach them to keep their tracks where no other children have to die."

Grazier said he was very happy with the jury's deci-

Assessment (SLLA) in July, and said that Esslinger's title could be interim athletic director and head football coach until his license came through.

After he is a licensed administrator, his title would change to athletic director and interim head football coach.

Board members Cheryl Bennett and Peggy Ladner voted against approving Esslinger, mainly because he did not yet have his Mississippi administrator's certification, and because the board had intended for the A.D. and head coach position to be two separate jobs. Bennett added that approving Esslinger at his current status would be an insult to former Athletic Director and Head Football Coach Rocky Gaudin, who resigned earlier this week. Gaudin was not eligible to hold the position, as he did not have a Master's Degree, or administrative certification either.

Board members Larry

Peterson, Morgan Ladner and Larry Seal voted to approve Esslinger's appointment.

"We've made enough of a mess of this already," Peterson said. "We need to go with (Esslinger)."

A budget workshop was also held before the meeting. While the 2004-05 school year budget has not been approved yet, the board discussed cutting several programs, including driver's education.

"Academics, or anything

that impacts it are off limits," Morgan Ladner said. "But driver's ed, we could look at."

Other programs, such as Hancock's GED preparation course, are also being considered for removal.

The board also decided to shift secretaries from schools that already had an excessive number of non-certified personnel rather than hiring new ones.

The budget will be discussed further at the next meeting on June 24.

Fire -- Roofing

since the building was empty.

Adams declined to comment on the cause of the fire, as it is still under investigation.

"Right now, it's so hot out here, we usually have (an ambulance) on standby," Sekinger said.

"It's too hot for this," one fireman said. "They need to do this at night."

Sekinger said the blaze took about 15 minutes to get under control.

"(The fire) was mainly in the offices, mainly upstairs, in the back of the storage floor," Sekinger said.

Scott Foreman, the building's owner, said his building was a total loss. He said the building would probably be torn down once the fire marshal had finished his examination.

Foreman was on his way to a job site when the sheriff's department called him.

"They told me, 'don't kill yourself getting back here, but your building's on fire.'"

Foreman said that his insurance should cover the damage. He owns the property the building was on, and plans to rebuild as soon as possible.

"I've been here seven years. I'm going to rebuild on the same spot and keep doing what I'm doing."

Impson wins silver medals

Waveland resident John Impson competed in the Mississippi State Olympics in Jackson recently, placing second in both the 100 meter and 200 meter track events winning silver medals.

He last competed in April in the first Mississippi Gulf Coast Senior Games where he placed first in both events.

Even though his times were better in the Jackson games, he came in second because the competition was much stronger.

Placing in these events qualifies Impson to go on to the 2005 National Senior Olympics which will be held in Pittsburgh, PA next June.

Gas prices drop as vacation season gears up

BY LYNDA EDWARDS
ASSOCIATED PRESS WRITER

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—Gas prices have fallen nationally to an average of $1.94 per gallon, with Mississippi drivers reaping even lower prices, according to the AAA.

"We use credit card receipts to calculate prices so we're still tabulating any price drops since Friday," said Michael Right, an AAA fuel analyst for Mississippi.

Mississippi's average price was $1.89, although several Jackson gas stations were charging $1.77 or lower as of Monday. North Carolina's average price was $1.92 per gallon. Florida was a higher priced anomaly, charging $2 per gallon.

Right credits the plummet in gas prices to an increase in oil production by OPEC, the alliance of the primarily Middle Eastern oil-producing nations.

"OPEC supplies one-third of the world's oil," said Right. When OPEC cut the price of crude from $42 to $38 a barrel, the cut was reflected at American gas pumps.

Most AAA analysts think that the lower gas prices will hold through the summer, then spike as the fall begins.

"Unless we have another shock," Right said. "Terrorism is part of the price increase because OPEC oil production can be disrupted by increased political instability."

Venezuela supplies about 14 percent of U.S. oil and is also gripped by political turmoil with occasional riots in the streets.

Area code changes announced

VICKSBURG, Miss. (AP)—Due to a growing state population and an increasing use of cellular telephones and fax machines, many Mississippians will soon be required to dial the area code even when making local calls.

A letter sent by BellSouth to phone customers Monday said beginning March 14, 2005, all numbers called in central Mississippi will require 10-digit dialing.

Even calls from a 601 number to another 601 number will require 10 digits to be dialed.

The letter also said an overlay area code will be added to the area in central Mississippi served by the 601 area code. An overlay is when an additional area code is added instead of a new area code replacing an old one.

The new area code will be 769.

Customers' current phone numbers will not change and the local calling area will remain the same. New phone numbers will have the 769 area code.

Correction

JACKSON, Miss. (AP)—In a June 10 story about Mississippi's law that forbids telemarketers from calling residents who register their names on the state's no-call list, The Associated Press reported erroneously that debt collection firms may not call those registered. Regulators say debt collection firms are exempt from restrictions in the no-call law.

Second Saturday in the Bay is a lot of fun and many of us who attend like to walk on Main Street and Beach Boulevard, listen to the music, eat the free munchies and look in the shops exhibiting antiques and art. It's a nice, relaxing way to visit with friends, talk about things that have happened and, if we see something we like, buy it.

While browsing in Serenity on the June Second Saturday, someone pointed out to me something odd about the Second Saturday strollers. The regulars that promenade and visit the Main Street shops seldom do the same along Beach Boulevard. What was interesting was that the reverse was also true. At first I thought that was silly until I realized the shops I had been visiting over the last hour had all been on Main Street!

No matter, on the next Second Saturday, I'll make a point of walking along Beach Boulevard as well. After all, Chessy's on the Boulevard is an exceptional place to visit and there are a number of other interesting shops as well.

The fact that it is all so local is what makes it so nice. There was a time years ago that when one thought of art along the coast, one thought of Ocean Springs. Back then it had the advantages of being the home of Walter Anderson, as well as having a pleasant tree-shaded shopping street and a very progressive Chamber of Commerce.

But things have changed. Now, the shops on Main Street and Beach Boulevard in the Bay are being considered easily Ocean Springs' equals or better in art and ambience. And with the shops to provide financial support there has come a thriving, very viable art community that is unparalleled along the coast.

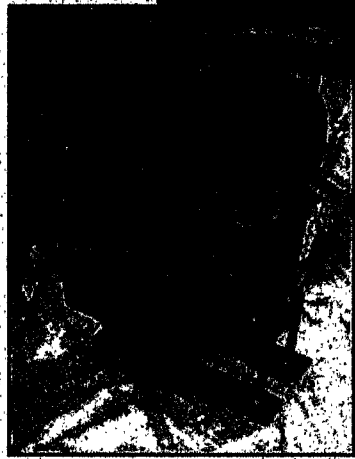

There is a nice side aspect to this that Stella and I find very enjoyable. We have been able to decorate the rooms of our home.

Re-Vamped!

Kevin Webster, multi-media artist, created this theatre chair for the Bay St. Louis Little Theatre's "Please Take Your Seat Gala," which takes place on June 25. The "Dracula" chair is on display now at the newly re-vamped Flying Cups & Saucers at Blaise Ave. in Bay St. Louis, right across from the historic L&N Depot. All of the chairs will be on auction during the gala.

BSLLT & The Arts present 'Please, Take Your Seat'

THE SEA COAST ECHO

If you've ever wanted to get involved in community theatre, donate to a worthy cause or indulge in a little "chair-ity," now's your chance.

This year, the Bay St. Louis Little Theatre (BSLLT) was selected by the Mississippi Arts Commission as the recipient of a $37,000 matching grant to support a much-needed renovation of this historic community treasure.

To access these funds, the Hancock County community needs to raise close to $25,000 as a match-grant.

The Arts-Hancock County is partnering with the BSLLT to host a special fundraising event called "Please, Take Your Seat Gala" on Friday, June 25 at Casino Magic Bay St. Louis. The event begins at 6 p.m. with a Preview Champagne Reception, followed by dinner and a silent auction at 7 p.m. with dancing at 8 p.m.

The "Please Take Your Seat Gala" is unique because more than 20 local artists have given of their time and talent to turn original chairs from the Theatre into one-of-a-kind works of art. Each artist features one of the plays performed at the Little Theater over the past 50 years. These priceless chairs will be on auction during the Gala. Participating Artists include:

- Barbara & John Boos - painting partners - ARSENIC AND OLD LACE

with wonderful pieces of local art at fairly inexpensive prices. Others have evidently felt the same and it is normal to visit a friend's home and see a Lori Gordon, a Hammett, or a Blake hanging on their walls.

We have a very good artist friend, Gwen Impson, who, when she and her husband moved into the area, took note of the large number of artists and art patrons located here. On the occasions she visited us, she often talked about the idea of forming an arts council or group in which the various artists could build on one another and grow.

It seemed to Stella and myself to be a nice idea and when Gwen spoke of her ideas, we would nod and say agreeable things. We secretly thought that it would be a tremendous amount of work and felt that it was a good idea that unfortunately would remain no more than a good idea.

We did not really know the industrious nature of our friend. Gwen talked to many other people and organizations and last year there suddenly, but really not so sudden, emerged the formation of a new organization: The Arts - Hancock County.

The Arts is today a full-fledged Hancock County organization with more than a hundred artist and art patron members. The Arts is partnered with the Hancock County Chamber of Commerce, the Hancock Library System, and the Hancock County Tourism Development Bureau to provide leadership in advancing the arts both as an economic tool and for community development.

Its organization can be best described as a broad, many-hued umbrella that includes all visual artists, writers, performing artists, musicians, artisans as well as friends of the arts in Hancock County.

The Arts goal is equally wide. Gwen, now The Arts president, states that its purpose is to coordinate related art activities, promote individual artists and art groups, and support art education to its members as well as the community. It's a nice objective. Although The Arts general membership meetings occurs only quarterly, there are monthly meetings, each designed to concentrate on some special art activity. Last month's meeting focused on pottery and was well attended.

This month is of especial interest to me, as it's focus will be on published and unpublished writers. There are an unusually large number of professional writers in the area and an even larger number of people interested in writing. This will be their meeting.

Writing is one of those art forms that has many diverse facets; one can be a novelist, a technical writer, someone who writes ad copy as well as a visual artist who uses the written word as part of their art. All of these take a certain talent and what is sometimes not emphasized to beginning writers, a great deal of practiced skill.

The meeting will address itself to all of these writers. I'll be there and I hope that you, if you have any interest in writing, will attend also. The meeting will be held at 7 PM at the Hancock Library in Bay St. Louis a week from this coming Wednesday, i.e., 30 June.

I would like very much to see you there. Please stop by.

AT METHODIST, NURSING IS OUR BADGE OF HONOR.

Kim Nieto, RN is a true example of a "giving" person... in fact, Kim has gone so far as to give 12 inches of his own hair to "Locks of Love," an organization which provides wigs for children undergoing chemotherapy. Kim's caring for others has taken him to Nicaragua, as part of a medical mission sponsored by the Archdiocese of New Orleans, and to Florida with the youth group at Christ Episcopal Church in Slidell.

Kim supports the Kidney Foundation of Louisiana by building miniature room boxes which are auctioned at a national miniature show, where Kim also volunteers his time.

Kim Nieto's commitment reaches into his community and touches lives. We're proud of Kim and of all our Methodist nurses... because their gift of caring continues long after their hospital shift ends.

If you're that one-of-a-kind nurse, we would like you to consider becoming a part of our dedicated group of nurses at Methodist.

For more information, please call (504) 244-5443.

Frankie Valli and the Four Seasons to perform at Magic

The undisputed kings of doo-wop, Frankie Valli and the Four Seasons will perform two concerts at Casino Magic Bay St. Louis on July 23 & 24 at 9 p.m. Tickets are available for $19.95, $24.95 and $29.95 at the Casino Magic Box Office, by calling 1-800-5-MAGIC-5 or through any Ticketmaster outlet.

Possessed of one of the most distinctive voices in all of rock and roll, Frankie Valli continues to dazzle. Valli's incredible career as a solo artist and with the Four Seasons has produced 19 top ten hits and sold over 100 million records world wide. A few of his hits include: "Sherry," "Big Girls Don't Cry," "Walk Like a Man," "Candy Girl," "My Eyes Adored You," "December 1963 (Oh What A Night)," "Grease," "Rag Doll," "Let's Hang On," and "Can't Take My Eyes Off of You."

Frankie Valli's earliest performances were informal affairs; he sang doo-wop to passers-by on Newark street corners. In the early fifties, Frankie Valli joined Nick Massi and Tommy DeVito in performing with their Variety Trio. The group later signed Valli on as a full member and began making a name for themselves while touring the East Coast. Around that time Frankie and the group began an association with songwriter Bob Gaudio. That relationship has continued for nearly forty years, and Gaudio remains an integral part of Frankie Valli's career.

In 1962 Gaudio wrote a song called "Jackie," named after Jacqueline Kennedy. It was written in about 15 minutes. Bob Crewe took it to Vee-Jay Records after changing the name at the last minute to "Sherry". Sherry was released in the summer and moved slowly until the group performed on "American Bandstand"...."Sherry" sold 200,000 copies the next day catapulting Frankie Valli and the Four Seasons into rock and roll superstardom. With "Sherry," the Four Seasons had crystallized a distinctive musical style...the popular doo-wop music of the 1950's inflected with the rhythm and blues influences that would come to define much of the music of the 1960's. With Frankie's dazzling falsetto as its trademark, the Four Seasons' sound would become one of the most enduring in all of rock and roll.

BIBLICAL JUSTICE FOR THE FALSELY ACCUSED

PUNISHMENTS FOR THE SINNERS AND THE CRIMINALS WERE VERY SEVERE IN BIBLICAL TIMES. THE EXECUTION OF A MURDERER CERTAINLY DID NOT AIM AT THE MURDERER'S REFORMATION! AND PUNISHMENT BY PUBLIC WHIPPING ALSO WAS NOT INTENDED TO REFORM THE OFFENDER! BUT THE LAW WAS UPHELD TO THE LETTER. HOWEVER, WHEN A MAN WAS FALSELY ACCUSED AND THIS FACT REVEALED, THE FALSE WITNESS INCURRED THE PENALTY OF THE CRIME FOR WHICH THE ACCUSED MAN WAS ON TRIAL. (DEUT. 19:16,19) THE BIBLICAL PEOPLE, THEMSELVES, FELT A SENSE OF TRIUMPH WHEN ONE OF THESE WAS FINALLY VICTORIOUS OVER THEIR TRIALS AND TRIBULATIONS! SUCH AS THE FALSELY ACCUSED JOSEPH WHEN HE WAS JAILED AFTER THE ACCUSATIONS MADE BY POTIPHAR'S WIFE TO FINALLY TRIUMPHANTLY RISE TO THE SECOND HIGHEST POWER IN THE KINGDOM OF EGYPT. (GEN. 39:44) AND HOW THE YOUNG HEARTS OF BIBLICAL YOUTH MUST HAVE SWELLED ON HEARING THE STORY OF THE MUCH MALIGNED MORDECAI WHO BY THE KING'S ORDER WAS LED THROUGH THE STREETS ON THE KING'S OWN HORSE AS AN ACT OF HONOR BY THE VILLAINOUS HAMAN WHO HAD TO PUBLICLY PROCLAIM THROUGHOUT THE CITY'S STREETS THE FACT THAT HIS BITTER ENEMY HAD FOUND FAVOR WITH THE KING! Jesus' Passion is re-lived in all of us

Since viewing Mel Gibson's The Passion of the Christ on Palm Sunday, my mind, at times even subconsciously, has been integrating the Passion into mine and the lives of people around me. In peculiar ways, the Passion is coming alive in all the people I meet.

After observing the phenomenon in myself, it quickly became evident that the reliving of the Passion, willy-nilly to each person, was unfolding in similar ways in all the other people around me. Yes, such are the days of our lives in the shadow of the Passion.

Each of us experiences more than the equivalent of a daily personal soap opera which rivals anything the professionals put on the screen. In fact, the great attraction of most people to the soaps derives from seeing their lives in the never-ending sagas of the soaps.

Where else do you think script writers find an endless source of dramatic material?

To all appearances, most people are not even aware of the stark presence of the Passion of Christ in their lives, although they are fully aware of much pain and sorrow woven into their daily living. It is their great loss that they fail to link the Passion with their suffering.

Without making a conscious effort to do so, each person simply reenacts the Passion by passionately telling her/his own story in life. Even people who reject or simply ignore the whole idea of the Passion of Jesus do in fact live out their own personal version of the classic saga of the Passion. At any given time, the shadow of the cross is never far away. St. Paul seems to stretch things a bit in 1 Corinthians 7:28, even though it is abundantly clear that by far most of the personal accounts of the Passion in individual lives concern the multiple problems, stresses and crosses involved in family life.

"If you marry, however, you do not sin, nor does an unmarried woman sin if she marries; but such people will experience affliction in their earthly life, and I would like to spare you that."

Granted that Paul comes off as a biased promoter of celibacy instead of marriage in that fateful chapter 7 of 1 Corinthians. Whatever bias or mind-set Paul may have had, it is nonetheless the glaring truth that affliction and tribulation beset virtually every family.

On balance over the 47 years of my priestly ministry, as I constantly tote up the hours spent in counseling, mainly listening to the Passion in the lives of others, I consistently come up with the same results. Perhaps 60 or more percent of my time is consumed in listening/counseling, and 80 percent or more of that involves family problems.

As people tell their burdensome stories, there is often a lot of evidence that a great part of the woeful storytelling of many people is deeply colored by tainted attitudes such as, "The grass is always greener on the other side." This poisonous view of our environs blinds us to the many positives, benefits and resources in our families and situations.

Sadly and painfully, people's accounts of the Passion in their lives frequently betray the presence of the dreaded familiarity syndrome: "Familiarity breeds contempt," and its equally dangerous opposite attitude: "Distance lends enchantment."

So ingrained and so prevalent are these attitudes among most of us that they have become most unwelcome bywords in our everyday living. We are notorious for virtually ignoring our dear ones who live in our bosom, while rolling out the red carpet for every stranger who darkens the threshold of our door.

Nothing against visitors and strangers, of course. The Master himself made it abundantly clear in Matthew 5:43 that we should be like our heavenly Father in greeting and welcoming all who come into our lives, even to the point of loving our enemies.

That said, however, charity does begin at home amid the special people placed in our lives by divine providence. What does it profit family bonding, peace and happiness if we honor strangers but overlook or ignore those closest to us in daily life? None of us are immune from the dreaded familiarity syndrome. By the sheer definition of "Familiarity breeds contempt," the awful syndrome sneaks up on us, insinuating itself into our thinking, attitudes, values, priorities and behavior.

So sinister and universal is this very human failing that Jesus himself had a major issue with it among the people where he grew up as a child with Mary and Joseph. The people of his native Nazareth were astonished at his wisdom and power of speech:

"Where did this man get all this? What kind of wisdom has been given him? What mighty deeds are wrought by his hands! Is this not the carpenter, the son of Mary?... And they took offense at him. Jesus said to them: 'A prophet is not without honor except in his native place and among his own kin and in his own house.'" (Mark 6:2-4)

Since the Master himself fell prey to this bit of human dysfunctionality, we can only imagine how vulnerable all of us are both as victims and as perpetrators. Our sad tales of the Passion in our lives turn mainly around the travails of our being neglected, ignored, envied, used, abused, distrusted and at times outright rejected.

The Passion of the Christ is alive and active in all our lives, and, if we allow it to, it will be powerful in enabling us to bear our daily crosses with faith, hope and love.

Reflections on Life by Father Jerome LeDoux, SVD

Scripture Says...

By Ed Young

Everyone needs Christ's Salvation

Believing that Christ died - that's history, believing that Christ died for mankind - that's theology; believing that Christ died for you that's salvation!

And it's salvation that everyone needs. Studying Christianity won't make you a Christian; understanding theology won't necessarily change your life; but believing will, if you place your faith in Christ as your personal Savior.

Faith means accepting salvation from Christ as a gift. You can't work for a gift, it can't be earned. You simply accept it. Faith means coming to Christ as a sinner and receiving His forgiveness.

It means coming to Christ as a pauper and trusting Him as your benefactor.

If you were drowning, you would not ignore a life vest thrown to you, you would trust it. That is how you must trust the Savior. Don't look inside yourself for redeeming qualities. You have nothing to merit God's approval except a sense of need and a cry for mercy. Don't think you can get into Heaven by good deeds, neither will baptism or confirmation save you. Joining a church will not give you new birth.

But if you ask the Lord Jesus Christ to save you, He will do it; for the Bible says: "Whosoever shall call upon the name of the Lord shall be saved." (Romans 10: 13) "Believe in the Lord Jesus Christ and thou shalt be saved." (Acts 16:31) "For God so loved the world that He gave His only begotten Son, that whosoever believeth in Him shall not perish, but have everlasting life." (John 3:16)

A Testimony of Grace

As we come up on July 4, I'm reminded of one of the most profound experiences in my life. It took place over the period of about a year after I was converted to faith in Christ. I wanted to go to seminary. But I was a second lieutenant in the army in Korea, and I had a four-year commitment. At any rate, I applied to seminary and was accepted. But how was I going to get there. Quite frankly I didn't know. The army was sending me off to Fort Hood, Texas. Then I ran into a chaplain who said there was a new regulation which allowed regular army officers to go to seminary under an excess leave program. It took some time, but when I finally did get hold of the regulation, I was elated. The regulation was approved within days of the time I returned to the States from Korea. But then my heart sank. As I read, I discovered three years of active service were required. I was coming up on only two years. Was I going to have to wait another year? I then went to the personnel office and talked to the officer in charge. He said I could ask for a waiver of the time requirement. But, he said, since the regulation is so new, let me send a telegram to Washington and check on its status. The next day, when I went back, the personnel officer said, I received a wire from Washington. The regulation has been amended. You need two years active service now. Put in your application. How amazing. God is in control of governments. God can move the Pentagon for the likes of me. Let the name of God be blessed forever and ever. For wisdom and power belong to Him. And it is He who changes the times and the epoch; He removes kings and establishes kings" (Daniel 2:20-21).

In between attempts at world domination as Warren, the evil genius leading a trio of nefarious geeks, on "Buffy the Vampire Slayer," and his new role as a bailiff baby-sitting jurors on Fox's Tuesday-night drama "The Jury," Adam Busch has spent his free time as the lead singer of a bicoastal punk-folk band called Common Rotation.

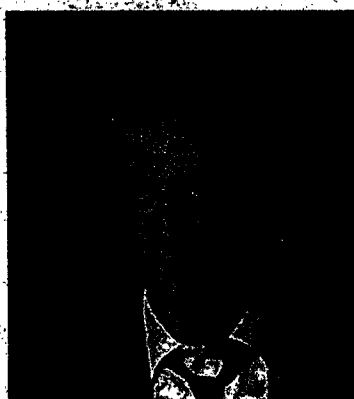

These days, if he's not working on "The Jury," Busch may just be coming to a living room near you.

With Common Rotation down to a duo - Busch and pal Eric Kufs - the idea was to circumvent the domination of Clear Channel Communications over booking live performances. The band's solution was to book itself into living rooms in various cities.

"We've been playing people's living rooms as a little protest to Clear Channel," Busch says, "just to say that this is the only way you can tour America without having to pay Clear Channel. Not that it's wrong to pay Clear Channel, it's just kind of wrong that you always have to."

"So we put something on our Web site saying we've been accepting submissions. The kids e-mail us. We pick cities, put it together, and then put the city on the Web site. The kids that want to come e-mail us, and we put them on the list. It's about 25 people per show."

Two of the most recent living-room gigs were benefits to support the presidential campaign of Democratic candidate John Kerry. The first, held in mid-May in Hollywood, was co-sponsored by Busch's former "Buffy" co-star (and fellow geek) Danny Strong; the second was a week later in Greenwich, Conn. Busch and Kufs are also working on a DVD of their living-room gigs. Stay tuned.

Birthplace: East Meadow, Long Island, N.Y.

TV credits: Played Noah in the series "The Mystery Files of Shelby Woo" and, as every New York actor has, did an episode of "Law & Order."

Music credit: Two albums so far from Common Rotation, "28 Orange Street" and "The Big Fear." The band also played a gig in New Jersey on March 5, 2004, with David Crosby and his band, CPR - on the night he got arrested, Busch says.

Great death scene: Played alive by the very angry witch Willow (Alyson Hannigan) on "Buffy," after killing her girlfriend, Tara (Amber Benson, with whom Busch has been romantically linked).

What would "The Wizard of Oz" be without "Over the Rainbow"? Or "The Graduate" without "Mrs. Robinson"?

Or "The Way We Were" without well, "The Way We Were"?

Memorable music can help define classic films, and many of the top movie tunes are saluted by the American Film Institute in the three-hour CBS special "AFI's 100 Years ... 100 Songs" Tuesday, June 22, hosted by John Travolta.

Barbra Streisand, Celine Dion, Art Garfunkel, Angela Lansbury, Debbie Reynolds, Paul Simon, Keith Carradine, Andy Williams and Bee Gees member Barry Gibb comment on their contributions to soundtrack history. Notable composers featured in the program include Marvin Hamlisch, Burt Bacharach, Carole Bayer Sager, Bill Conti and Hans Zimmer.

Another "100 Songs" guest, Jennifer Warnes, has had an especially good run of movie music. After scoring with the late-1970s pop hit "The Right Time of the Night," the singer was hired to croon "It Goes Like It Goes" for the drama "Norma Rae."

The song earned an Academy Award (as did the film's star, Sally Field), then Warnes did Oscar- and Grammy-winning duets: "Up Where We Belong" (with Joe Cocker) from "An Officer and a Gentleman," and "(I've Had) The Time of My Life" (with Bill Medley) from "Dirty Dancing."

Additionally, Warnes' rendition of the "Ragtime" theme "One More Hour" was Oscar-nominated. She reasons, "Artists and critics think about structure and form and craft, but the people who buy music care about songs that make up the soundtrack of their lives. If a song was around when they got married or conceived a child, it becomes a part of their life. That makes me sit back and think how grateful I am that people have found my music useful."

Warnes says when she saw the AFI rundown, to be made public on the special Tuesday, "It told me more about people's lives than about where I stood on any list. These are just great songs that stand the test of time."

Salute to Meryl Streep Monday, June 21, says about using accents. "For instance, I grew up in New Jersey, and two houses up from me was a lady who was an Italian war bride. She was from Naples, so in 'The Bridges of Madison County,' I just talked like she did."

Meryl Streep's life's work is celebrated by AFI on USA

By Jay Bobbin
© Zap2it

Make no mistake: Meryl Streep is thrilled to receive the American Film Institute's latest Life Achievement Award.

But at the same time, she's dismayed.

The two-time Oscar winner (out of a record 13 nominations) is only the sixth woman to receive the AFI award in its three-decade history. In following fellow screen legends Bette Davis, Lillian Gish, Barbara Stanwyck, Elizabeth Taylor and Barbra Streisand in getting the accolade, Streep is guaranteed to address the female-vs.-male inequity in her acceptance speech when USA Network televises the 32nd annual ceremony Monday, June 21.

During the event - taped June 10 at the Kodak Theatre in Hollywood, Calif.

Streep is given the award by Mike Nichols, who directed her in the movies "Silkwood," "Heartburn" and "Postcards From The Edge," and in the recent HBO miniseries "Angels in America." Other AFI Life Achievement Award honorees on hand include Streep co-stars Robert De Niro ("The Deer Hunter," "Falling in Love") and Clint Eastwood ("The Bridges of Madison County").

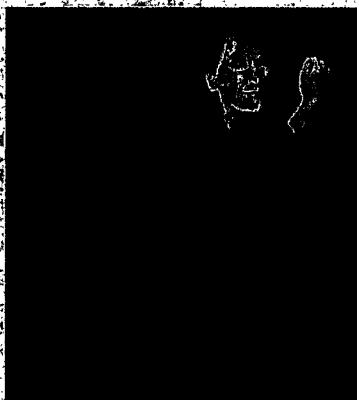

Also participating are Streep colleagues Robert Redford ("Out of Africa"), Diane Keaton ("Marvin's Room"), Kevin Kline ("Sophie's Choice"), Kurt Russell ("Silkwood"), Goldie Hawn ("Death Becomes Her") and Tracey Ullman ("Plenty"). Director Sydney Pollack and writers Carrie Fisher and Nora Ephron offer tributes as well, as does Jim Carrey, who appears with Streep in the upcoming "Lemony Snicket's A Series of Unfortunate Events."

Happy as she is to be recognized by the AFI, Streep adds that she finds the small number of female honorees "just horrible when I think about it, though you don't want to bite the hand " And would she use the occasion to vent that feeling? Oh, you bet, baby! There are two kinds of people in the world, men and women ... so each year, they should alternate (which gender is honored); if they really wanted to be compensatory, they could start by taking the next 12 years to give the award just to women."

Enough good female roles exist to support that, Streep insists. "I think that changes all the time, and it's actually getting better. The kinds of female characters represented in movies are more varied, certainly, than they were 30 years ago. That's partially because of the whole 'indie' (independent-movie) scene, and partially because there are more women executives, frankly. They're interested in those stories."

Streep long has crusaded for diversity in female roles, extending from her performance as the AWOL wife and mother in "Kramer vs. Kramer" to her Golden Globe Award-winning work in "Angels in America." She always has hoped to be "allowed to portray a lot of different kinds of people and lives, not just ones who look or sound like me, someone who was brought up in New Jersey. That's the art of acting and the opportunity that's in the craft. I'm really happy I haven't been pigeonholed into any one category, though it hasn't always been effortless."

"I've had to elbow my way out of 'drama queen' into comedies, which is where I started, but it's all worked out somehow. Every director or studio chief who says, 'Well, why can't she play this?' is breaking ground for me." Recent additions to the list are director Jonathan Demme and Paramount Pictures chief Sherry Lansing, who cast Streep as an assassin's manipulative mother in the forthcoming remake of "The Manchurian Candidate." Streep believes the film is "very true to the original, yet very different at the same time."

The most nominated performer in Oscar history, Meryl Streep gets another honor when the American Film Institute gives her its Life Achievement Award in a USA Network special airing Monday.

One of Streep's main claims to screen fame is her mastery of dialects, which has led to her being questioned when she doesn't use one. "It doesn't surprise me when it comes from people who are uneducated in the craft of acting, but it's always a shock to have people inside the business parse out one part of somebody. It's like saying, 'I liked every part of that character ... except the feet.' Well, if a character is supposed to be from Texas, you do what you must to make that person from Texas."

Josh Duhamel will return to 'Las Vegas'

By Taylor Michaels

Q ■ In the season finale of "Las Vegas," Danny McCoy (Josh Duhamel) was recalled to the Marines. Will he return to the show next season? We would miss him! -Lindy Lawson, Bloomington, Ind.

A "All our regulars are coming back next season," says series creator and executive producer Gary Scott Thompson. "We'd be crazy not to keep them all, but there will be some developments that will take us in different directions with some of them."

Given world events, having Danny recalled to combat was something that had been percolating in Thompson's mind for several months, he added.

"It's just what would really have happened to Danny, as a Marine," he explains. "This grounds our series a little more in reality. It will add incredible depth to his character when he returns, and now Danny and Ed (James Caan) will relate to one another on a different level than the others."

Although Thompson is tired - story meetings for season two started before post-production on season one was finished - he allows some good-natured gloating over the TV critics who dismissed "Las Vegas" last fall in favor of higher-profile but ill-fated shows starring Rob Lowe and Alicia Silverstone.

"It was a little like being in 'Ten Little Indians,'" he says of watching the other shows crash and burn as the season progressed. When the dust cleared, "Las Vegas" was the only NBC series introduced last fall that made it to a second season.

Q ■ Wasn't the actor who played Jason on "Gilmore Girls" the same guy who was in "It's Like, You Know"? —John Murphy Jr., Garfield, N.J.

A Yes, that's Chris Eigeman, 39, who starred in indie filmmaker Whit Stillman's "Metropolitan," "Barcelona" and "The Last Days of Disco" before making his TV series debut as Arthur Garment in ABC's 1999-2000 "It's Like, You Know." In addition to other credits, Eigeman also played Bill Moyers in the HBO historical movie "Path to War," and has had a recurring role as Mr. Lionel Herkabe on Fox's "Malcolm in the Middle."

FX's 'Nip/Tuck' schedules a second season of sex and surgery

By Kate O'Hare
© Zap2it

This may come as a shock to those who watched the first season of FX's plastic-surgery melodrama "Nip/Tuck," but on this day of shooting in Hollywood for the second-season premiere, Dr. Sean McNamara (Dylan Walsh) and his wife, Julia (Joely Richardson), who spent season one embroiled in marital turmoil, are happy.

Sean's partner and college buddy, the single, philandering Dr. Christian Troy (Julian McMahon), has accompanied Sean to his 40th birthday party, where his friends and family have donned masks with his face on them, and his daughter (Kelsey Lynn Batealan) sings "Happy Birthday" (something Richardson and McMahon make sure they're on hand to hear).

"I was quite pleased in the second season that we were having a break from seeing Julia always unhappy," Richardson says, in the elegant British accent she uses off-screen. "There was a lot of crying last year, a lot of meltdowns, bordering on too many."

"Ryan (series creator Ryan Murphy) always said that Julia was the heart of the show and felt all the emotions. It was a relief this season to come into work and know that I don't have to be sad every day."

Only Murphy and his cohorts know how long this nuptial bliss lasts in "Nip/Tuck's" 16-episode sophomore season, which begins commercial-free on Tuesday, June 22. Apparently it's not that long.

"Sean and Christian, about halfway through the season, switch roles," Murphy says, "where Christian becomes the stable voice of authority, and Sean has a midlife crisis and goes nuts. So Sean becomes Christian, and Christian becomes Sean."

"Sean's been seeing Christian sleeping with all these women, the cars and the clothes... Dylan's getting ready to play that, and he's really looking forward to it."

"His stuff with Joely is fantastic. You're really rooting for them, because in the first five episodes of this year, they're getting along. They're having so much fun. They're sweet to each other, which you've never seen, so when the s--- hits the fan, it's even more devastating."

No doubt, some of that turmoil stems from Julia's secret attempt last season to determine whether Sean or Christian is the biological father of her son, teen-age Matt McNamara (John C. Hensley).

"I love the fact that one person knows," McMahon says. "Nobody even knows she went and did it. It's her and the audience that has the inside in regards to her going, and she is the only one who knows the answer."

"It was left hanging in the air," Richardson says, "but I had a very definite take on it. I just felt there was the most interesting way it could go—maybe, as Julia was the one who gave birth, I had a little say in it. I've been told how it works out, which also went along with how I felt. But they can always change their minds."

Hensley is a little less cagey about his feelings. "In all honesty," he says, "there is a part of me that would be disappointed if Sean turned out to not be Matt's legitimate father, only because, in the context of the story, I really see Sean as the character who strives the greatest to better himself. He doesn't always make the right decision, but for the most part, his intentions are good."

Also contributing to the coming storm earlier in the season is the sudden arrival of Julia's mother, Erica, a famed author and child psychologist, who has decided she wants a facelift (and it's pretty graphically portrayed). Apparently, the idea came up at last year's Golden Globes Awards, where Murphy ran down a list of possible actresses for Richardson.

"I said, 'Yeah, they're all good ideas,'" she recalls.

Some time later, Richardson's real mother, legendary British actress Vanessa Redgrave, called her daughter to say another acting gig had just been canceled.

Richardson says, "I said, half-jokingly and half-serious, 'Do you want to come and play my mum in 'Nip/Tuck'? I don't know if the part's still free.' She jumped at it. She said, 'Oh my God, I'd love to.'"

"So then I rang Ryan and said, 'Look, my mum's free, what do you think of her playing my mum?' He discussed it with the producers. They all loved the idea, and that's how it happened. Then after I'd put them all in touch with each other, I completely stepped back. You don't want to be the person in the middle—unless you're getting 10 percent."

Redgrave also does an American accent as Erica Noughton, who, as it turns out, is very familiar with Christian.

"Not only does she get a facelift," Murphy says, "but she has sex with a much younger man. She's very brave about that. He has just been rejected for the first time by a younger woman. He's feeling old; she's feeling old; it's moving, it's real. It's not lascivious or dirty."

John C. Hensley stars as troubled teen Matt McNamara in the Miami-set plastic surgery melodrama "Nip/Tuck," which premieres its second season Tuesday on FX.

"And of course, we find out it's his way to get closer to Julia in a really perverse, hideous way."

While Christian has obviously not given up his wild ways; he is trying to be a good father to the child borne last year by his on-again/off-again lover, Gina (Jessalyn Gilsig)—even though the baby turned out to be another man's.

For McMahon, who has a young daughter of his own, it raises very real questions. "It's a lovely question to pose to all of us," he says. "What does it mean to actually love somebody as your own? It didn't have, for him, anything to do with the fact that the baby wasn't his."

Whatever happens, says Murphy, Sean, Julia and Christian are in for a rough year. "This season's about the three of them and their loyalties and what will become of them if they don't have each other."

Real emotions trump social issues in sweet, funny 'Jack'

By John Crook
© Zap2it

On paper, "Jack"—an original Showtime drama premiering Sunday, June 20—looks like an overly earnest "After-school Special," with its story of a teenager trying to cope with his parents' divorce after the revelation that his father is gay.

But as performed by a strong cast under the sensitive direction of Lee Rose ("What Girls Learn"), this charming adaptation of a novel by A.M. Homes serves up a quirky and embraceable set of characters, emphasizing human emotions over social agendas.

At 15, Jack (Anton Yelchin, "Hearts in Atlantis") views the world with the unashamed egocentricity of most teens. He is envious of his best friend, Max (Giacomo Baessato), whose mother, Elaine (Wendy Crewson), is a combination of fox, domestic goddess and doting mom.

Jack's own home has been rife with tension ever since his dad, Paul (Ron Silver), came out of the closet and moved out of the house. Now, Jack's already eccentric mom, Anne (Stockard Channing), is chain-smoking and seeing a new boyfriend (Andrew Airlie) while trying to offer discreet support to her son.

A fateful camping trip opens Jack's eyes that his own imperfect family offers an abundance of love, even if he can't always demand it on his own terms.

While a lesser movie would portray Paul as a plaster saint who teaches Anne and Jack to become more highly evolved, this delightfully messy and unpredictable little cable movie resists such simple answers.

"That's what drew me to it," says Channing. "I found it funny and offbeat and just very much about humans—about how screwed up we are, how we try to do the right thing and wind up crashing into walls."

"It's funny and touching, too, that Jack is going through all these changes and wants his parents to be 'normal,' but they're simply trying to lead their own lives."

The actress reveled in all the issues her character had to face.

"Anne is going through this awful breakup of her marriage, and you get the sense that these people were once in love with each other. So there's a lot of confusion and pain from that, combined with the demands of raising an adolescent, along with wondering whether she is still attractive as she explores a new relationship, plus a determination not to give up her real sense of self," Channing says.

"I really loved the sense that Anne doesn't try to solve all her problems by going out and getting a makeover. She ferociously sticks to who she is, and she tries to do her best."

Rose was so blown away by Yelchin's audition that she cast him in the title role, despite the fact that, at age 13, her "leading man" could only work eight hours a day.

"I knew Anton was the right choice from the very start," Rose says. "And you see that immediately when you look at the movie. Anton is this wonderful man-boy who just is a spectacular human, part 13 years old, part 50-year-old man. It's bizarre."

Playing Anne took its toll on Channing, a non-smoker for 20-plus years. "I got kind of sick to my stomach," she confides. "I was reeling after the chain-smoking scene, and I'm grateful it didn't send me straight to the hospital. But what can I say? What we give for our art!"

Stockard Channing stars as Anne, a woman struggling to juggle her own heartache at the collapse of her long marriage with her need to comfort her 15-year-old son, who has recently discovered that his father is gay, in "Jack," a touching and surprisingly funny Showtime movie premiering Sunday.

Serena hopes for greener grass at Wimbledon after tough year

By George Dickie
© Zap2it

It's been a frustrating year since Serena Williams' last Grand Slam title a year ago at Wimbledon.

Since then, the winner of the "Serena Slam" (accomplished when she won Wimbledon and the French and U.S. Opens in 2002, and the 2003 Australian Open) has fallen victim to a stubborn left knee injury that required surgery, kept her out of action for eight months and caused her to miss the U.S. and Australian Opens.

When she returned in March, it was as though she had never left, defeating Elena Dementieva in commanding fashion in the final at the NASDAQ-100 Open in Key Biscayne, Fla.

But victories haven't come easily to Serena so far in 2004, as evidenced by her defeat at the hands of Jennifer Capriati in a French Open quarterfinal three weeks ago.

Still, when play begins this week on the grass courts of Wimbledon, spectators will likely see a two-time defending champion ready to take title No. 3.

So says former tennis pro Cliff Drysdale, who will provide analysis for ESPN and ESPN2 when they (and NBC) air coverage of the year's third Grand Slam from London's All-England Lawn Tennis and Croquet Club beginning Monday, June 21, and running through July 4. He believes that both Serena and her sister, Venus, are primed and ready to go. "They're talking a good game," he says, "and ... to me they're the best. To me, they're the best on any surface if they're playing and are reasonably fit. It was last year that they were dominating. I mean, Serena had won her 'Serena Slam,' and then she lost (at the 2003 French Open) in the semifinals to (Justine) Henin-Hardenne in a huge surprise in a very close match. And then she goes on and wins Wimbledon again. So I still think, honestly, she's the class of the field, as long as she stays fit and doesn't get surprised, and I don't think that's going to happen. ... I don't see anybody beating her at Wimbledon. I don't see that happening."

Who might compete with them? "Henin-Hardenne is a big question mark because she's been out now for a while and she wasn't prepared for (the French Open). And she had some kind of mono-like virus. So she's got to be in 110 percent shape to beat either Williams sister on grass, in my view. So Serena is, for sure, I think the best prospect, and the way the Belgians are - (Kim) Clijsters hasn't played for a while. ... So I think the Williams sisters are going to do it again there."

What about Jennifer Capriati, who eliminated Serena at Roland Garros? "You know, she's playing well," Drysdale says. "She should've beaten (Amelie) Mauresmo in Rome (in the Italia Masters final). She's hitting the ball well. She's got a new coach. She's looking enthusiastic. So I think she has got a very, very good shot. With any slip from the Williamses, I think she could come through. But I think it's going to take a slip from the Williamses for that to happen. But it's possible."

On the men's side, Drysdale thinks 2003 Wimbledon champ Roger Federer is the player to beat once again. "Roger Federer is the clear favorite because he has a couple of Slams under his belt," he says. "Who knows what's going to happen ... but he's looked good even at the French. But he's got to be the favorite, and I think from the Americans' standpoint, there is no doubt that - in my view anyway - (Andy) Roddick has got a very good shot at it, if there's any slip from Federer. I don't think (Andre) Agassi is out of the picture, and depending on how (James) Blake and (Mardy) Fish are feeling and whether they're back at full strength, they've got an outside shot, and so does Taylor Dent, which is a great surface for him, I think, his best surface by a long way."

Roddick, with his 140 mph serve, could be of particular trouble to Federer. "He got to the semifinals (at Wimbledon) last year," Drysdale notes. "He didn't play a bad match, I thought, against Federer, but Federer was at his best. And I think Federer would have to be at his best to beat Roddick, because the serve is huge ... But it was a huge achievement for him, and all things being equal, that's definitely a competitive match. Now, Federer's got a good record against Andy Roddick, for the most part. But I still like Roddick with the best chance among the U.S. players, certainly."

"NASCAR Racing" Sunday, June 20 (Fox, 1 p.m. ET): Michigan International Speedway in Brooklyn hosts the first of its two Nextel Cup races this season with the running of the DHL 400. After a series of in-race adjustments, Kurt Busch and his team finally hit on the right ones, passing Jeff Gordon on lap 177 and holding off Gordon and Bobby Labonte to win this race - then the Sirius 400 - last year. Busch has one win after 11 starts this year to put himself in prime position in the overall standings.

"MLB Baseball" Sunday, June 20 (ESPN, 8 p.m. ET): The names have changed, but the rivalry remains. Before this three-game series began Friday, the last time the Dodgers and Yankees met was the 1981 World Series, when guys like Pedro Guerrero, Ron Cey and Reggie Jackson were making headlines. It's a long way from tonight's game at Dodger Stadium to the Series in October, which gives struggling stars Derek Jeter of the Yanks and Shawn Green of the Dodgers plenty of time to right themselves.

"2004 NBA Draft" Thursday, June 24 (ESPN, 7:30 p.m. ET): The first steps of the rest of their lives as pampered millionaires begins for many selections tonight when they saunter to the podium at the NBA Draft in New York. Unlike last year, when can't-miss prospects LeBron James and Carmelo Anthony were the story, this draft could feature as many as eight high-schoolers chosen in the first round, including Dwight Howard and Shaun Livingston. The Orlando Magic may choose UConn's Emeka Okafor first overall.

12 p.m. on 8-FOX on 25-FOX NASCAR Racing

Michigan International Speedway in Brooklyn hosts the first of its two Nextel Cup races this season with the running of the DHL 400. After a series of in-race adjustments, Kurt Busch and his team finally hit on the right ones, passing Jeff Gordon on lap 177 and holding off Gordon and Bobby Labonte to win this race — then the Sirius 400 — last year. Busch has one win after 11 starts this year to put himself in prime position in the overall standings.

6 p.m. on 4-CBS 60 Minutes

The commentary segment he did for this program with Sen. Robert Dole didn't last long, but interest is bound to be high as former President Bill Clinton returns for a sit-down with Dan Rather in this new installment. The main subject is Clinton's much-anticipated memoir, "My Life," scheduled to hit the shelves this Tuesday. Expect him to discuss the contents — but not in so much detail that viewers won't run out to buy the book.

7 p.m. on 38-WB Charmed

Piper (Holly Marie Combs) gives up on love to focus all of her efforts on baby Wyatt in "Prince Charmed." Phoebe and Paige (Alyssa Milano, Rose McGowan) try to show Piper the error of her ways by giving her the ideal man (guest star Eduardo Verastegui) for her birthday present. Romance must wait, though, when the members of a demonic cult abduct Wyatt.

7 p.m. on ESPN MLB Baseball

The names have changed, but the rivalry remains. Before this three-game series began Friday, the last time the Dodgers and Yankees met was the 1981 World Series, when guys like Pedro Guerrero, Ron Cey and Reggie Jackson were making headlines. It's a long way from tonight's game at Dodger Stadium to the Series in October, which gives struggling stars Derek Jeter of the Yanks and Shawn Green of the Dodgers plenty of time to right themselves.

7 p.m. and HALL

Movie: La Femme Musketeer

A woman follows in the footsteps and swordplay of Athos, Porthos, Aramis and D'Artagnan in this 2003 adventure movie. In fact, as played by Susie Amy, she's the daughter of D'Artagnan (Michael York, who also had the role in two mid-1970s films). She attempts to prove her worthiness to be a Musketeer by helping to save the kidnapped fiancée of King Louis XIV. Gerard Depardieu and Nastassja Kinski also star.

Soap Talk

The Dattilos tune in to the toons

By Paulette Cohn

© Zap2it

Hollywood abounds with sons who have followed their fathers into acting: Michael and Kirk Douglas, Kiefer and Donald Sutherland, and Charlie and Martin Sheen, among others. But "Days of Our Lives" star Bryan Dattilo (Lucas) is hoping his 4-and-a-half-year-old son, Gabriel, won't be one of them.

"I want him to be a professional athlete - a football, basketball or baseball player," says Dattilo, who loves to shoot hoops. "Because he is going to be 6 feet 3 inches, he could be a leading man. But I say to him, 'Daddy's on TV, right?' He says, 'Daddy's on TV.' I say, 'Do you want to be an actor?' He goes, 'No.' 'A scientist?' 'No.' 'A basketball player?' 'Yeah, basketball player.' Then he goes, 'Yee, yee, yee, yee (a cartoon noise)!' I taught him that."

So it should come as no surprise the two share a love of toons. Dattilo turns on the Boomerang channel because it plays all the same animated shows that he watched as a kid. "I am bringing him along the same path I once took," Dattilo admits, although he also tunes in to PBS for more educational programming.

Dattilo, who has been divorced since 2001, shares joint custody with his ex-wife. He says, "The best part about being a father is the greeting that you get when you walk in the door and he runs and gives you a big hug and doesn't break the hug until after you break it. Then you know you have been rewarded."

Dear Paulette: What is the scoop on Anna-Lee (Lila Quartermaine) from "General Hospital"? References are made to her character, but she has not been seen in months. -Elaine, Bloomsburg, Pa.

Dear Reader: Anna-Lee died at her home in Los Angeles on May 14. She was 91. Her son Jeffrey was with her. The actress, born Joan Boniface Winifred on Jan. 2, 1913, hadn't been in good health for the past few months. As for her "GH" appearances, the show took the 25-year veteran off contract last year. She posthumously received a Lifetime Achievement Award at this year's Daytime Emmys.

The use of a police dog in a prank yields much more than anticipated in "Consequences." Rory (Martin Spanjers) takes the canine to prove himself to peers, but the pooch locates marijuana — and Kerry (Amy Davidson) appears to be the owner. To Cate's (Kaley Sagal) alarm, Bridget (Kaley Cuoco) resists wearing a helmet when she rides with her beau on his motorcycle.

AFI's 100 Years ... 100 Songs

The American Film Institute's annual list of the top 100 in some aspect of screen history focuses this year on music, with John Travolta drawing upon his "Saturday Night Fever" and "Grease" expertise as host of the three-hour special. Among others discussing the impact of melodies on movies are Burt Bacharach, Celine Dion, Marvin Hamlisch, Angela Lansbury, Debbie Reynolds, Paul Simon, Barbra Streisand and Andy Williams.

7 p.m. on 38-WB

Gilmore Girls

Liz's (guest star Kathleen Wilhoite) elaborate wedding provides the framework for "Last Week Fights, This Week Tights." After Lorelai and Luke (Lauren Graham, Scott Patterson) share a dance at the reception, he asks her out. Rory (Alexis Bledel) overdoes it at an early summer-vacation party and summons Dean (Jared Padalecki), but Jess (Milo Ventimiglia) interrupts them.

8 p.m. and TBS

Outback Jack

"The Bachelor" meets "Survivor: The Australian Outback" in this unscripted series, clearly a hybrid of other shows already established in the genre. This premiere episode introduces Vadim Dale, a rugged athlete and outdoorsman who's in the market for romance ... but the 12 city-bred women vying for his heart will have to prove their mettle in the Land Down Under for a shot at going the distance with him.

9 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

NYPD 24/7

While "NYPD Blue" takes the summer off before its final season, a logical replacement fills the time period — with Dennis Franz even serving as narrator. The debut of this unscripted series follows members of the New York Police Department on their various beats, with each division having distinct cases to work on. In "Hour One," the location of a career woman is determined via her cell phone after she is attacked.

9 p.m. on 6-NBC

Law & Order: Special Victims Unit

The murder of a Nigerian child sets police Detectives Benson and Stabler (Mariska Hargitay, Christopher Meloni) on the trail of a person practicing human sacrifice in "Ritual." As if the murder itself wasn't bad enough, the investigators believe the death was used to cover a homicide involving sex. Further digging uncovers a slave smuggling business.

That '70s Show

Desperate to get in with the gang, a newcomer (guest star Seth Green, "Buffy the Vampire Slayer") is granted admission, only to abuse the privilege by making a move on Donna (Laura Prepon) in "Substitute." Expectedly, Eric (Topher Grace) is enraged. Bob (Don Stark) invites Pamela (guest star Brooke Shields) to live with him.

7 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

My Wife and Kids

Though fathers often dislike the young men who date their daughters, Michael (Damon Wayans) takes a shine to Claire's (Jennifer Freeman) beau (Andrew McFarlane) in "Claire's New Boyfriend." Her dad's approval prompts Claire to start seeing a less sensitive suitor (Donnell Barrett). Jay (Tisha Campbell-Martin) poses for aspiring artist Jr. (George O. Gore II).

7 p.m. on 19-PBS

American Masters

An often troubled country-music icon is recalled in the new episode "Hank Williams: Honky-Tonk Blues." The subject's grandson, also a country performer who is known as Hank Three, is among those who reflect on the legacy of the senior Williams and his classic tunes such as "Your Cheatin' Heart" and "I'm So Lonesome I Could Cry." Hank Williams Jr. and surviving members of Williams' band, the Drifting Cowboys, also comment.

7 p.m. on TNN

Movie: The Godfather, Part II

The second — and, many critics contend, the best — installment in Francis Ford Coppola's Oscar-winning "Godfather" trilogy, based on Mario Puzo's novel, includes flashbacks to Vito Corleone's early days in 1920s New York. Robert De Niro won an Oscar as the young don. Al Pacino returns as Michael Corleone, who oversees the family's criminal empire in Lake Tahoe, Nev. Diane Keaton also is back in the 1974 drama.

8 p.m. on 6-NBC

Law & Order

The show's traditional ripped-from-the-headlines style is evident in "Bounty." Briscoe and Green (Jerry Orbach, Jesse L. Martin) investigate the murder of a bounty hunter who was chasing a fugitive charged with rape. A journalist who interviewed the fleeing man could give the police detectives and prosecutors the break they need in the case.

8 p.m. on 19-PBS

Rebels and Redcoats: How Britain Lost America

The American Revolution is recalled from the standpoint of the British in this new miniseries, which concludes June 30. In the opening two-hour episode, "The Shot Heard Around the World/American Crisis," military historian Richard Holmes traces the prelude to the battle between American patriots and their British overseers, Gen. George Washington faces a setback, but he comes rallying back on Christmas 1776.

9 p.m. on 6-NBC

Law & Order

An elderly woman is murdered in her apartment in "Evil Breeds." Briscoe and Green (Jerry Orbach, Jesse L. Martin) suspect ambulance workers who have been ripping off passengers. When the thieves are cleared, the investigators find out the victim was the lead witness in the deportation case of an alleged war criminal.

Friends

Greg Kinnear ("As Good as It Gets") guest stars as Ross' (David Schwimmer) rival for Charlie's (Aisha Tyler) affections in "The One With Ross's Grant." Kinnear plays a scientist who has the power to give Ross a coveted grant — but he'll do it only if Ross ends things with Charlie, who is the scientist's ex-girlfriend. Kinnear and Tyler were hosts of the now-defunct El Entertainment Television program "Talk Soup" at different times.

Tru Calling

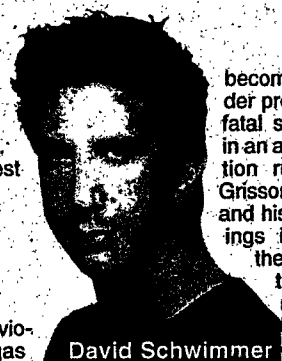

Tru (Eliza Dushku) becomes a beauty-pageant entrant to determine who murdered another contestant in "Drop Dead Gorgeous." While seeking the killer, she worries about the status of her relationship with Luc (Matthew Bomer), who is starting to date someone else. Alexandra Holden ("Friends") and William R. Moses ("Falcon Crest") guest star.

8 p.m. on 4-CBS

CSI: Crime Scene Investigation

An especially bleak and violent section of Las Vegas becomes the site of a murder probe in "Getting Off." A fatal stabbing is committed in an area where drug addiction runs rampant, giving Grissom (William Petersen) and his team grim surroundings in which to conduct their investigation. A victim still wearing clown makeup generates a lot of unanswered questions.

David Schwimmer

8 p.m. on 6-NBC

Will & Grace

Multiple Emmy winner Candice Bergen guest stars as herself sparring with Karen (Megan Mullally) when they unexpectedly run into each other while Karen is out on the town with Jack (Sean Hayes). What I Like About You Henry (Michael McMillian) becomes Vince's (Nick Zano) temporary roommate, forcing Holly (Amanda Bynes) to determine which of them has her true loyalty, in "The Odd Couple." The stakes are raised by Tina's (Allison Munn) apparent flirtation with Vince. Val (Jennie Garth) tries to get over Peter (Stephen Dunham) by speed dating.

8 p.m. on 26-ABC on 13-ABC

Hope & Faith

Faith (Kelly Ripa) invades Hope's (Faith Ford) monthly book-club meetings, turning the sessions into much wilder gatherings — and eventually drawing the attention of the local police — in "About a Book Club." Charley (Ted McGinley) becomes obsessed with setting a pinball-game record when he and the children visit an arcade.

8 p.m. on 4-CBS

JAG

Mac's (Catherine Bell) mouth gets her into trouble with a judge in "Hard Time." Commenting on the inadequate security provided for a violent female Marine, Mac is ordered to escort the offender across the country. The journey takes longer than expected, giving Mac time to get to know her prisoner — and develop doubts about the woman's guilt.

9 p.m. on 6-NBC

Las Vegas

Jean-Claude Van Damme guest stars as himself — and apparently dies — in "Die Fast, Die Furious." He's making a movie at the Montecito when a motorcycle stunt goes awry, evidently killing the action-film icon. Sam (Vanessa Marcil) encounters an ambitious rival (guest star Ian Anthony Dale). Delinda (Molly Sims) continues to mourn the loss of her latest beau.

Saturday Best Bets

4 p.m. on USA

Movie: Hollow Man

Director Paul Verhoeven ("Starship Troopers") spares little in terms of getting graphic with this 2000 updated twist on "The Invisible Man." Kevin Bacon plays a scientist whose psychosis grows in direct proportion to his newly acquired transparency. He uses his ability to target those he perceives to be his enemies, including his colleague and ex-flame (Elisabeth Shue).

6:30 p.m. on HBO

Movie: Sinbad: Legend of the Seven Seas

A strong voice cast, with actors who don't often work in animation, is among the main attractions of this lavish 2003 cartoon feature. Brad Pitt speaks the words of the title character, a thief who plunders the seas for treasure — which he finds in a "Book of Peace" that a goddess (voice of Michelle Pfeiffer) also wants. Catherine Zeta-Jones, Joseph Fiennes and Dennis Haysbert ("24") also lend their voices to the adventure.

7 p.m. on 26-ABC

Movie: A.I.: Artificial Intelligence

EG: Adapted and directed by Steven Spielberg from a concept by the late Stanley Kubrick, this 2001 fantasy proved darker than many moviegoers expected. Haley Joel Osment ("The Sixth Sense") plays an artificially created boy brought home by a couple to take the place of their deceased child. Later abandoned by them, he's mentored by an "older" robot (Jude Law).

7 p.m. on 6-NBC

Gymnastics

The best men and women gymnasts from the recently completed U.S. Nationals are in Anaheim, Calif., this weekend for the U.S.

Olympic Team Trials. Tonight's coverage features the preliminaries, in the women's all-around competition, with NBC, the network for the Summer Games in Athens, Greece, scheduled to show the finals tomorrow. A selection committee then determines the six women who will travel to Athens to represent the Red, White and Blue.

7 p.m. on BRAV

Movie: Primary Colors

John Travolta stars as Gov. Jack Stanton, a Southerner who decides he wants to run for president. In order to do that, he has to have some kind of a campaign plan. With all the rumors about his personal life floating around, it won't be easy to get people to take Jack seriously. Emma Thompson, Billy Bob Thornton, Kathy Bates and Diane Ladd co-star in this 1998 comedy-drama.

7:30 p.m. on 4-CBS

Movie: Keeping the Faith

It's not "The Passion of the Christ," but this 2000 comedy-drama does pit a Jew against a Christian. Rabbi Jack Schram and Father Brian Finn (Ben Stiller, Edward Norton) have been buddies and philosophical sparring partners for a long time. But when a childhood friend (Jenna Elfman) re-enters their lives, their friendship faces an unexpected test. Anne Bancroft and Ron Rifkin co-star.

8 p.m. on HBO

Movie: Everyday People

The soft-of overlapping subplots and dialogue familiar in director Robert Altman's movies fuels this new drama, set in a Brooklyn diner that may not last much longer. The owner has decided to sell the site to a developer, causing immediate alarm for the employees and regular customers. The members of the ensemble cast include Reg E. Cathey ("Oz"), Stephen Axelrod, Bridget Barkan and Stephen McKinley Henderson.

Haley Joel Osment

(Ratings for each film begin with a star rating - one star meaning "poor," four meaning "excellent," followed by the Motion Picture Association of America rating, and then by a family-viewing guide, the key for which appears below.)

STARTING THIS WEEK (New releases)

"SECRET WINDOW": It's misery anew for another Stephen King character, a newly divorced writer (Johnny Depp) who has more troubles awaiting him, in this effectively suspenseful melodrama. Holed up in a cabin where he struggles to get back to work, the author is confronted by a man (John Turturro) who accuses him of stealing an idea for a book. Things only get worse from there, with the writer's ex-wife (Maria Bello, "The Cooler") also in the crosshairs. Charles S. Dutton and Timothy Hutton co-star. DVD extras: audio commentary by director-screenwriter David Koepf; "making-of" documentaries; deleted scenes; animated storyboards.  (PG-13: AS, P, V)

"BAD SANTA": The holiday spirit is mutated for a seasonal felon and his partner in intended crime (Billy Bob Thornton, Tony Cox) in "Crumb" director Terry Zwigoff's darkly hilarious comedy. The mock Santa and his "elf" plan to rip off the latest store that has hired them for Christmas duty, but a youngster (Brett Kelly) might alter their scheme. John Ritter had his last movie role as the manager of the mall that houses the store; Bernie Mac and Lauren Graham ("Gilmore Girls") also star. DVD extras: deleted scenes; outtakes.  (R and unrated versions: AS, P, V)

"THE LOST SKELETON OF CADAVERA": Kitschy horror movies get an affectionate send-up in this similarly styled spoof. Two scientists compete to be the first to reach a fallen meteor, but the otherworldly mysteries only start there. Add a spooky cave, a crashed spaceship, stranded aliens, a mutant in a smoke and a kitchen sink may be the only thing missing. Writer-director Larry Blamire stars along with Ray Mastroroni, Brian Howe, and Andrew Parks. DVD extras: theatrical trailer; "making-of" documentary; audio commentaries by cast and crew members; outtakes; cast and crew Q&A session; "Skeleton Frolic" cartoon; "Virtual Skelectables" gallery; additional horror-movie trailers.  (PG: AS, P, V)

"THE VERY BEST OF CHER: THE VIDEO HITS COLLECTION": One of the first pop stars to recognize the impact of music videos, Cher began making them long before others got on board - accounting for virtually all phases of her career being covered by the 16 tunes in this collection. It helps that some of them come from her movies, such as her cover of "The Shoop Shoop Song (It's in His Kiss)" from "Mermaids," but they also date back to "Half-Breed" and "Bang Bang (My Baby Shot Me Down)."  (Not rated)

"RENO 911! - THE COMPLETE FIRST SEASON": The trend-setting style of "Cops" has been ripe for parody ever since that reality show began, and this Comedy Central series - which recently began its second season - does indeed spoof it. Lt. Jim Dangle (Thomas Lennon) leads a brigade of men and women in blue as they keep Reno safe. In the opening episode, they enforce a zero tolerance policy that encompasses anything deemed questionable. The citizens are ready, so the cops have trouble finding anyone to arrest. Niecey Nash, Ben Garant and Keri Kenney also star. DVD extras: audio commentaries by cast and crew members; deleted scenes; alternate scenes.  (Not rated: AS, P, V)

"THE JOE SCHMO SHOW: SEASON ONE UNCENSORED": With the proliferation of unscripted TV series, it was only a matter of time until a show targeted the reality-show genre for laughs. This Spike TV offering (which just started its second season) was among the first to the gate, with Matt Kennedy Gould as one of nine housemates. In a twist reminiscent of "The Truman Show," he doesn't realize the other eight people are actors who have been hired to play stereotypes and try to elicit certain reactions from him. DVD extras: audio commentary by Gould and executive producer Rhett Reese; "making-of" documentary; deleted and extended scenes; eviction-ceremony interviews.  (Not rated: AS, P)

COMING SOON (Upcoming releases)

"BARBERSHOP 2: BACK IN BUSINESS" (June 29): Calvin (Ice Cube) becomes more determined to keep his father's shop in business when a hair-cutting chain franchise moves in. (PG-13: AS, P)

"COLD MOUNTAIN" (June 29): A Civil War soldier (Jude Law) tries to make his way back to his true love (Nicole Kidman). Oscar winner Renee Zellweger also stars. (R: AS, P, V)

"THE PERFECT SCORE" (June 29): Several high-school students conspire to cheat on their SAT exam. Scarlett Johansson, Erika Christensen, and Chris Evans star. (PG-13: AS, P)

ABC's 'NYPD 24/7' documents reality dedicated cops encounter

By Jacqueline Cutler
© Zap2it

Given that television has more New York cop shows than one can shake a nightstick at, a documentary series about the New York Police Department may seem redundant.

ABC's "NYPD 24/7," beginning its seven-week run Tuesday June 22, instead is riveting, scary and touching. "People think they have been inside the NYPD plenty, but that's drama," filmmaker Terry Wrong says of shows like "NYPD Blue" and the "Law & Order" franchise. "This is real. I thought one way to accentuate that would be to have Dennis Franz say, 'I am only an actor. The guys you see tonight are real.'"

Franz narrates and is only seen in the opening and closing moments, introducing segments, then explaining the outcome of cases. The initial reaction to seeing Franz in his short-sleeved shirt and polyester tie is that this is a promotion for "NYPD Blue" or a bizarre hybrid of truth and fiction. Unfortunately, it's all true. Though "NYPD 24/7" is careful to not show excessive gore, and blurs faces of victims, this is not a program for children or anyone with delicate sensibilities.

In the first episode, a woman is stabbed in the lobby of her ex-boyfriend's building. Naturally, he is the suspect, but did he do it? Detective Steve Di Schiavi has his doubts. For starters, the guy is just too pristine in his gleaming white shirt to have committed such a bloody crime.

Detectives take to the street, sometimes necessarily bending the truth, to find the culprit as the woman clings to life. They get their man, and he gets 15 years. "I believe in an eye for an eye," Di Schiavi says. "She almost died. Whatever time he gets is not enough for me."

In "Hour Two," viewers meet Lt. Vic Hollifield, who embodies all that is good about police. He is brave, tough, and uses more common sense - such as locking a drunk's keys in his car - than the law probably allows. The series revisits Hollifield later, showing him handing in his badge when he retires.

As Hollifield talks about Sept. 11, pointing out where he dove under a fire engine to avoid being crushed by the collapsing tower, it is difficult to feel anything but respect. He questions why he survived when so many colleagues did not. Hollifield leads a unit of elite officers, the Emergency Services Unit.

"If al-Qaida takes Grand Central (Station) hostage, it's not Delta Force that will respond," Wrong says. "It's emergency services who are the front lines in this city."

Their dedication is obvious when a man ties a noose around his neck and climbs out onto a very steep girder over the Hudson River. Hollifield directs his men, who help lower him to safety in a boat.

This episode also shows what is in a day or night's work for a pretty detective. Nicole Papamichael uses her natural assets, barely covered in a mini skirt and tank top, to snare johns.

"Let me see your breasts," a potential john says. "You don't get nothing for free, honey. You're a pervert," she responds. "Let me see your money."

Most of the cops display a great sense of humor, which they say is crucial for their sanity and survival. In "Hour Three," a young man, out drinking with a friend, gets into a fight and lands down a manhole, where he's boiled to death. Meanwhile, Detective Danny Austin goes from homicide to homicide, remembering that each body is not merely a case with a number, but was once a person with dreams.

"Hour Four" is haunting. Ramona was an honors student at Hunter College. When she did not come home one day, her mother called police. They told her that because Ramona was 21, there was not much they could do.

It turns out the woman had been kidnapped, bound and raped by two men who kept her captive in a basement. They also mutilated her, leaving the toughest cops, convinced they had seen everything, horrified. One suspect is arrested quickly, while the other - after police follow a lead to upstate New York, then another to Georgia - is finally collared in Yonkers. But the community, outraged over the initial police reaction, which many found racist, took to the streets, calling for the detectives' ouster.

"Hour Five" showcases Alison Esposito, a young cop and daughter of a police chief. She goes under cover to break up a purse-snatching ring in Times Square. Esposito shines when she attempts to calm a couple fighting on the street. The man, much larger than she, hits her, and the woman clocks her. So, Esposito beats them up, cuffs them, then gets angry because she broke a nail. She knows the score, yet is genuinely amazed anyone would strike an officer first.

Detective Steve Di Schiavi is featured in ABC's first of seven one-hour documentaries, "NYPD 24/7," beginning Tuesday. "We see stuff nobody should have to see," he says. "But we see it."

"My new 8-lb. Oreck XL. It cleans the air as you vacuum your floors!"

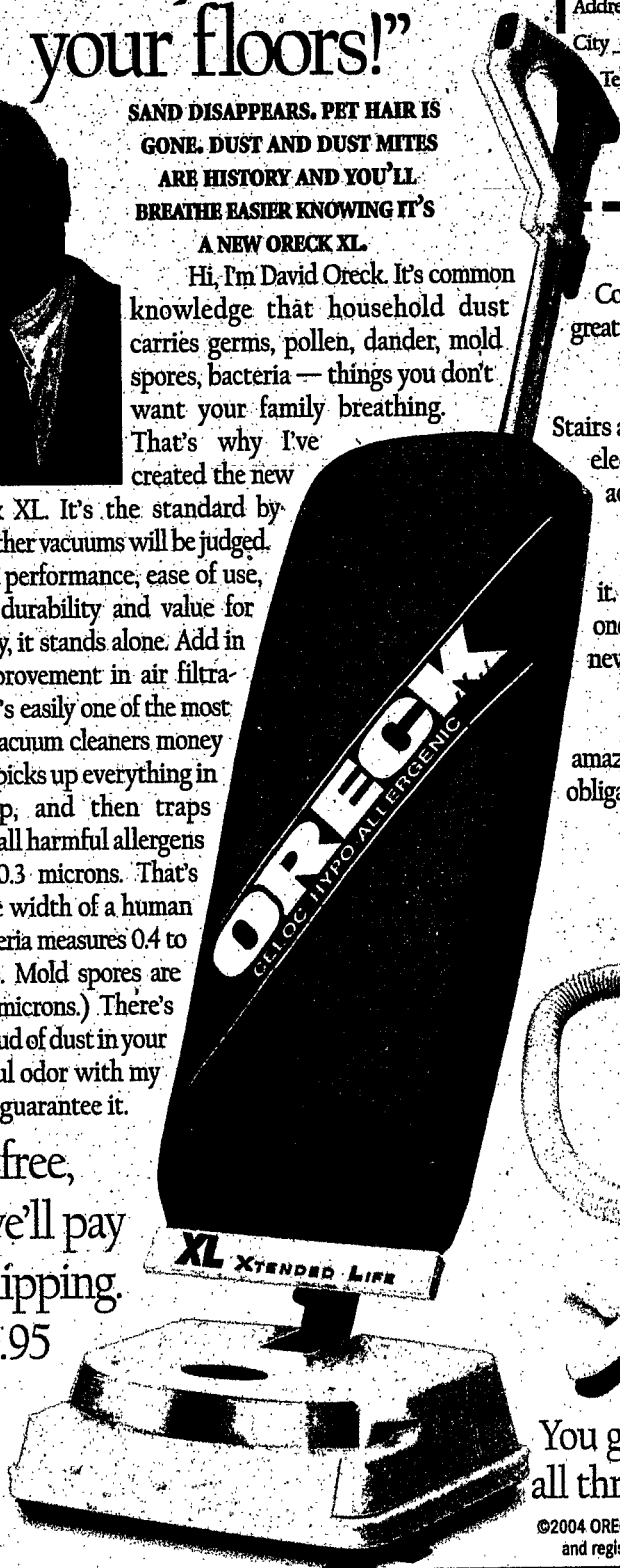

SAND DISAPPEARS. PET HAIR IS GONE. DUST AND DUST MITES ARE HISTORY AND YOU'LL BREATHE EASIER KNOWING IT'S

A NEW ORECK XL

Hi, I'm David Oreck. It's common knowledge that household dust carries germs, pollen, dander, mold spores, bacteria — things you don't want your family breathing. That's why I've created the new 8-lb. Oreck XL. It's the standard by which all other vacuums will be judged. Because in performance, ease of use, reliability, durability and value for your money, it stands alone. Add in a 50% improvement in air filtration and it's easily one of the most advanced vacuum cleaners money can buy. It picks up everything in one sweep, and then traps 99.99% of all harmful allergens down to 0.3 microns. That's 1/250th the width of a human hair. (Bacteria measures 0.4 to 10 microns. Mold spores are 10 to 100 microns.) There's never a cloud of dust in your face, or foul odor with my new XL! I guarantee it.

Try it free, and we'll pay the shipping. A $29.95 value!

Reverse Age Spots While You Sleep

"You Won't Believe Your Eyes!"

The Science Behind Reversing Age Spots

ActiFade™ uses a melanin-reacting emollient formula to help renew skin and easily fade unsightly age spots, freckles, liver spots, and skin discolorations. At bedtime, apply it to your hands, arms, face, or neck to gradually restore your skin to a smooth, even-toned appearance while you sleep!

ActiFade™ is superior to department store fade creams because it allows you to actually diminish skin discolorations rather than just cover them up. The ActiFade™ formula contains trusted and effective ingredients that support healthy, clear, younger-looking skin. ActiFade™ is not sold in stores, but you can get it shipped directly to your home by calling the toll-free number below.
